FIRST EDITION.

TWELVE O'CLOCK M.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

Variety of Bills Passed—Local Liquor Bills Defeated—Railroad Life Insurance—The Pardoning Power in Philadelphia.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, April 10, 1868.

SENATE.

RAILROAD LIFE INSURANCE.

The Senate bill authorizing any railroad company, by a vote of the stockholders, to determine the number of directors, more than five, passed finally.

This bill is important. It provides, among other things, that all policies upon life hereafter maturing, which are taken out for the benefit or assigned to the wife, children or relatives dependent upon the assignor, are vested in such wife, children or relatives, full and clear from all claims of creditors of such person. The bill goes to the Governor.

BILL LAID OVER.

The Senate bill legalizing purchases of real estate made in the State by foreign telegraph companies, was opposed by Mr. ERRETT, of Allegheny, on the ground that foreign corporations could come into Pennsylvania and enjoy privileges without a charter, and without being subject to the restrictions imposed on State corporations. The bill was laid over.

HOUSE BILLS PASSED FINALLY.

Empowering the School Board of West Brownsville, Washington county, to sell school property; also to borrow money.

Reimbursing Benj. Crow, of Washington county, for monies expended in recruiting and conveying volunteers to New Brighton and Pittsburgh.

Supplement for Western House of Refuge, which requires the Judges of Allegheny county to visit the institution.

Supplement for New Castle Hall and Market Company.

Repealing act relating to recording general election returns in Butler county, approved April 10, 1867.

Incorporating the New Alexandria Male and Female College of Westmoreland county

Incorporating the New Alexandria Railroad Company.

Authorizing Sharpsburg Borough, Allegheny county, to borrow money.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

BILLS PASSED BY TITLE.

Speaker DAVIS denied from the Chair that bills had ever passed by their titles only. He had asked the editor of the State Guard to correct the statement, but said that paper had repeated the assertion this morning.

Mr. MANN, of Potter, believed that no public or important bill had passed by its title. He would not positively declare that no bill had been so passed.

The remainder of the business was unimportant to Western Pennsylvania.

HOUSE BILLS PASSED FINALLY.

Authorizing F. L. Snowden to sell certain real estate in Allegheny county.

Authorizing Nathaniel Till to erect a ferry over the Allegheny river in Warren county.

Supplement for Pittsburgh and Minersville Passenger Railway Company.

Authorizing School Board of Slippery Rock township, Butler county, to borrow money.

Allowing appeals from property assessments in Westmoreland and other counties within thirty days after the decision of Commissioners.

BILLS CONSIDERED.

Bill prohibiting liquor licenses in Allegheny township, Westmoreland county. [Passed second reading only, equivalent to defeat, as this is the last day to send House bills to the Senate.]

Senate bill authorizing the transfer of Gettysburg Cemetery to the general Government. Palled finally and goes to the Governor.

Bill submitting the liquor license question to the voters of Mount Pleasant, Westmoreland county. Defeated.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR—THE PARDONING POWER.

A mesage was received from the Governor relative to the pardoning power of the Philadelphia Judges, sustaining his former position, and informing the Legislature that he had received a full report of all persons whose sentences were remitted by said Judges.

Mr. MANN, of Potter, moved its reference the Judiciary Committee, with power to report next session.

Pending discussion, adjourned.

FROM EUROPE.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE WAR IN ABYSSINIA—KING THEODORE READY FOR A SIEGE.

LONDON, April 10.—The War Office is in receipt of late dispatches from the British expedition in Africa. General Napier had reached latitude twenty-one. The Abyssinian King was at Magdala ready for a siege. His force consisted of 5,000 effective men, and he had also twenty-six large guns. General Napier had complete plans for a general assault on the works.

Fatal Accident at a Cathedral.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CAICAGO, April 10.—About nine o'clock to-night a fatal accident occurred at St. Mary's Cathedral, corner of Madison street and Wabash avenue. The Cathedral was densely packed on the occasion of Good Friday services. An alarm of fire was raised, which created a panic in the church, and in the rush for the door a portion of the galleries fell. Three persons were instantly killed, all females, and several others severely injured, two of whom will probably die.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

The Impeachment—Conclusion of the Opening for Defense—Testimony of General Thomas.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 10, 1868.

SENATE.

After prayer the chair was vacated for the Chief Justice, and the Court was opened. The journal of yesterday was then read. The gallery was about half filled. General Sherman again occupied a seat on the floor.

Mr. CURTIS, of counsel for the President, resumed his opening address at fifteen minutes past twelve o'clock. He commenced by referring to the statement made by Mr. Butler, that the President's letter to the Secretary of the Treasury, notifying him of the suspension of Mr. Stanton, claimed no justification of his authority under the Constitution. He read the letter, and claimed it did specify under what authority the President acted.

The charges made in the second article were then discussed by Mr. CURTIS, who proceeded to argue Mr. Stanton did not come within the provisions of the section alleged to be violated. He said the first and second sections of the Tenure-of-Office act referred to removal and suspension arising from any cause during a recess of the Senate; but the third section applies only to vacancies caused by death or resignation. The penalties prescribed in the fifth section were directed solely against violations of tne third section. The present case he claimed was outside of its provisions. But, said Mr. CURTIS, the main charge of this article was that the letter of authority was given without authority of law. Reading the act of 1795, he claimed it applied to vacancies of all kinds, and the act of February 20th, 1863, applied to vacancies arising from sickness and temporary inability, and only to that extent repealed the former, under which the President had full authority for the act referred to.

In reply to the charge made in the third article, that the designation of General Thomas as Secretary ad interim was in violation of the Constitution, Mr. CURTIS cited the act of 1792 and others, which authorized the temporary filling of vacancies, without making any distinction between vacancies occurring during recess or when the Senate is in session, and said the practice of the Government had been uniform in filling vacancies as soon as they occurred. He illustrated the frequent necessity of immediate action in such cases by another reference to the appointment by President Buchanan of Hall in place of Floyd.

The eighth article Mr. CURTIS claimed was met by his answer to the third, and he proceeded to consider the fourth. The charge made of appointing General Thomas without the advice and consent of the Senate could not be sustained, because no appointment was made. A simple commission to act was not an appointment, and could not, of course, be submitted to the Senate. The allegation that no vacancy then existed is begging the question. The vacancy was created as soon as Mr. Stanton received the order removing him, and the vacancy could properly be contemplated by the President at the time of his writing to Gen. Thomas the letter of authority.

Recapitulating his argument, Mr. CURTIS then claimed he had shown that the Managers could not maintain their charges of violation of the Constitution and laws, and proceeded to consider the various charges of conspiracy. For this purpose he said he would take up the fourth and sixth and fifth and ninth articles together. The fourth and sixth, which charged a conspiracy between the President and Gen. Thomas to obtain, by force and intimidation, possession of the War office and Government property, are based on the conspiracy act, while by its terms it has no application to any person in the District of Columbia, for it speaks only of the States and Territories of the United States; but it was not necessary to rest the answer upon this technical ground. In a case of private right he did not deem the issue of authority or to assert it sufficient basis for a charge of conspiracy. Still less could it be alleged of a public right. The order was based on the assumption of military subordination, and the superior and inferior officer to conspire because the latter obeyed the order directed to him by the former. It was also impossible to show that the President ever did directly or by implication give Gen. Thomas authority to use force or intimidation. The fifth and seventh articles would be answered in his arguments against the tenth.

Mr. CURTIS then claimed that the charge made in the ninth article not only failed of proof, but was absolutely disproved by the testimony of General Emory, who swore to having introduced the subject to draw out the President. It would appear in proof that the President sent for him for an entirely different purpose from that alleged in the article referred to.

Advancing to the tenth article, Mr. CURTIS went into the question of what are impeachable offences. He would not vex the ear of the Senate with precedents from the middle ages, but would refer to the provisions of the Constitution of the United States, whose framers knew quite as much as the men who lived in the time of the Plantagenets, and had made the subject so clear as to require no research beyond them. The language of the Constitution was to allow impeachment for treason, bribery and other high crimes and misdemeanors, which other high crimes and misdemeanors must be equally grave offenses, and be offenses against the United States, for the President is elsewhere empowered to pardon all offenses against the United States, except in case of impeachment. He recited various provisions relating to the trial of impeachment, and claimed it was fully shown this tribunal was constituted for such purposes a Court, was bound by law, and was not a law unto itself. If it were not so, there would be no provisions forbidding the passage of bills of attainder, nor would Senators, before assuming the character of judges, be required to take an oath to obey the Constitution and Laws. The complaint made in the 10th Article is that the President spoke disrespectfully of Congress. It should have been said of the dominant majority. But the charge is brought forward in an extraordinary way, for the grand jury is one body of Congress, and the triers constitute the other. The spectacle is, however, that of Congress resolving itself into a school of manners.

Mr. CURTIS combatted the views put forward by Mr. Butler, that it was immaterial whether or not the alleged indecorous expressions were true, quoting from English statutes the sedition law passed during Adams' administration, and from writings of Madison passages in support of the position, that telling the truth about officers of the Government is not an offence against the law.

Mr. CURTIS then asked who were to be the judges of the propriety of speech? It was the assumption of this very authority which had caused thousands of heads to fall in England under the Tudors, and nearer our own time in France. It was the freedom of speech, ordained by our Constitution, that made us a peaceful and happy nation.

He passed very briefly over the eleventh article, characterizing it as a compound of the ten preceding, and closed with a reference to the unprecedented magnitude and had not been and never could be another occasion like this in the proceedings of the Government, to prove the greatness of importance of the case. He said that there American justice or injustice, that justice which Burke says is the crowning glory of all civilization, or that injustice which is sure to return to its authors.

The Senate at 2:15 took a recess for fifteen minutes.

TESTIMONY FOR DEFENSE.

After recess Gen. Thomas was sworn, and on examination by Mr. STANBERY, testified as to his rank in the army and his appointment as Adjutant-General in March, 1861. He remained in office after Stanton's appointment; was sent by him to various parts of the country to organize and inspect troops, &c.; organized about eighty thousand colored troops; his last special duty as Adjutant-General was performed about the close of 1868; was restored to office duty as Adjutant-General, by order of the President, February 13, 1868; saw the President soon afterward.

Mr. BUTLER objected to the question, what was the conversations.

Witness then stated that on the morning of February 21st he received a note from the Private Secretary of the President, asking him to come to the White House; he went and the President handed him papers, being a letter to Mr. Stanton and his own letter of authority; never saw the papers before; had no hand in preparing them. The President said to him, "I intend to support the Constitution and laws and expect you to do the same." Witness went to the War Department and demanded possession. Mr. Stanton asked if time would be granted to remove his papers. General Grant was present, and showed him his appointment as Secretary of War ad interim. Witness then retired to his room. Same day he received a letter from Mr. Stanton forbidding him to issue any orders as Secretary of War ad interim, which letter witness proceeded to read.

Mr. STANBERY—What was said in the conversation between you and the President subsequently on the same day.

Mr. BUTLER objected, and argued at some length that conversation relating to acts could not be put in evidence, if it occurred subsequent to the commission.

Mr. STANBERY replied, contending it was clearly admissable as bearing on the charge of conspiracy, and calling attention to the fact that the Managers had introduced a large amount of testimony about conversations held long after the date in question. They had put in evidence what General Thomas had said when not on oath, and a portion of his evidence now should be admissable.

Mr. BUTLER rejoined, challenging the production of legal authorities to prove that what one conspirator said to another after an act was committed could be put in evidence in his favor, although the confessions of a criminal could always be used against him. He expressed the belief that the remarks about supporting the Constitution and the laws were pre-arranged and manufactured for effect.

Mr. EVARTS reminded him that hearsay evidence of what General Thomas said was introduced on the pledge that the President would be connected with it. Now, the President's counsel propose to show from General Thomas himself what were his instructions and what was the intention of the President.

At Mr. BINGHAM'S suggestion the question objected to was reduced to writing and read by the Secretary. He then argued in support of the objection. He denied that the Managers had introduced hearsay evidence. The declarations of conspirators were primary evidence. He said it was trifling with justice, and an attempt to introduce utterances of an accused criminal in his own behalf.

The CHIEF JUSTICE then submitted to the Senate the question of admitting Gen. Thomas' testimony in regard to conversation, and the yeas and nays resulted forty-five to ten. So the evidence was admitted.

The witness stated to the President that he had delivered the communication to Mr. Stanton, and told him what answer had been made. The President then said to him, "Very well, go on, take possession and obey orders." This was all that occurred. Did not see the President again that evening. Next morning witness was arrested. Went with the Marshal to the White House. Told the President he was in custody, and on what charge. The President replied, "Very well, that is just where I want it, in Court." Witness then left. At his hotel, on giving bail, he asked Judge Carter if he was in the meantime suspended from his functions. The Judge replied in the negative, and explained the effect of giving bail. Witness narrated the circumstances and conversation which occurred after he went to the War Office. The same morning, after the members of Congress who witnessed his interview with Stanton retired, Thomas said to Mr. Stanton, "the next time you have me arrested, do it after breakfast; I have had nothing this morning to eat or drink." [Laughter.] Mr. Stanton, in a playful manner, ran his hand through witness' hair, and said, "Well, I think, General, we have a little something here," whereupon General Shriver produced a bottle, and Mr. Stanton divided its contents, about a spoonful, into two parts, and they took a drink together. Subsequently some full bottles were brought, and this was all the force used that day. [Great laughter.]

Mr. STANBERY asked if the President had ever directed him to use force or threats to obtain possession of the War Department?

Objection made and argued by Messrs. BUTLER and EVARTS.

Without division the Senate allowed the question to be put, and Gen. Thomas replied in the negative. When questioned as to his conversation with Mr. Burleigh, he said he never invited him to come to his office; had said to him, or Wilkinson, that he would call on General Grant, or "kick the doors down." Knew nothing whatever about Karsener; suppose he might have seen him four years ago, when he was ill at home. Karsener introduced himself as an old acquaintance and hung on him by the hand while he made remarks, several times repeated, about Delaware having her eyes upon him (Gen. Thomas.) Karsener then asked him when he was going to "kick that fellow out," and he adopted Karsener's words and said he would do it in a few days. Never thought about kicking Stanton out.

Cross examination from March, 1863, to February 13th, 1868, did not perform office duties of Adjutant General. Had no intimation before the 18th of February, that the President wished to make him Secretary of War ad interim. Swore by mistake to the contrary when examined by the House Committee, but corrected his evidence afterwards. He swore there he had received an intimation to that effect about two weeks previously from Col. Moore. Told the President, at the time of receiving the appointment, he would obey orders. Did not expect to receive any particular order. When he received the note from Colonel Moore, February 21st, he did not know what the President wanted him for. After returning from the War Department did not tell the President Mr. Stanton was not going to give up the office, or that such was the witness' opinion; did not show him Mr. Stanton's letter; did not think it necessary. What he said to Wilkinson about applying to Gen. Grant was only boasting; as to what he said to Burleigh about breaking down the doors, he felt inclined to do so; changed his mind on this point before he was arrested; the arrest did not produce the change; his intent to use force was in reverse of the President's order; never expressed to the President his belief that he could not obtain possession without force; suggested to the President that the best way to get possession of the papers and mails was by issuing an order through General Grant; the President had never said anything to him about his published expressions; the President had not acted on his suggestion how to obtain possession of papers; had admitted before the House Committee that Karsenar's testimony was correct, but explained that he used the words playfully.

The cross-examination was concluded. Adjourned at 5.20 P. M.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Several private bills were received from the Senate.

A resolution was adopted directing the Committee on Appropriations to inquire into the expediency of defining more accurately the time and manner of carrying unexpended appropriations to the surplus fund.

The SPEAKER announced, after reassembling, that no business would be done other than the presentation of executive communications.

The House then proceeded to the impeachment trial.

The members, at twenty minutes past five, returned to the hall.

The SPEAKER laid before the House several Executive documents.

Adjourned.

THE CANADA ASSASSINATION.

Important Disclosures Expected.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

OTTAWA, April 10.—It is still rumored that important disclosures have been made by one of the arrested parties as to the assassination of McGee, but nothing is made public. The taking of evidence continued till two this morning and there is the greatest anxiety felt as to the disclosures expected to be made to-day. The report of the police expedition sent into the country exploded the theory of the escape in a carriage of parties connected with the murder.

Public meetings to express indignation and abhorrence of the crime and sympathy with the family of the victim are being held in different parts of the provinces. There is a growing conviction in the public mind that the prisoner Whalen fired the fatal shot and that there were a number of persons connected in the plot.

Speaker Colfax laid before the House to-day an address of the National Assembly of the provisional government of Crete, asking Congress for recognition and aid to secure their complete emancipation and the independence of the Island. It was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTIES.

Some time ago the House passed a resolution addressed to the Secretary of War, relating to the amount of land necessary to meet the requirements of bill No. 940 to equalize the bounties of soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the late war for the Union, in the event of its becoming a law. The Secretary says that in March, 1866, there was a carefully prepared estimate made of the money required to pay these beunties under the law then pending. That was substantially the same as bill No. 940, except as to the manner of making payment. The sum was estimated at $253,691,000. In April, 1866, for additional bounties, the estimate was $58,643,000. The expenditure under the bounty acts passed so far indicate this amount estimated is rather short than in excess of actual requirements. Deducting this latter sum paid on account of the additional bounties from the amount first estimated, and the remainder gives a pretty close approximate of the further amount that would be required under the bill in question, namely, $195,056,800, which in land alone, at a dollar and a quarter per acre, will require 156,045,440 acres. No note is taken of the local bounties not paid by the United States, as the Secretary says he has no means of ascertaining the amount.

THE LAKE DISASTER.

Further List of Passengers on Board the Lost Steamer—Another Rescued—His Account of the Calamity.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE April 10.—The following persons embarked on the Sea Bird from Manitowac: Geo. W. Emeric, Joseph D. Doucett, Chas. Roecher, Henry Pfeffer, James A. Hodges, Clerk; Fred. Henim, Fred. Henning, Capt. N. F. Nelson, Capt. John Sorrensou, James Lykom, Casper Legro, Wenzol Haodichek. Albert Meiva, R. H. Hunt, Wm. Barton. Also, P. C. Donabay and Fritz Kleimner, of Chicago. Also, the following deck hands: John Foucks, Aug. Wilde, Henry Neeman, Amos Meyer.

CHICAGO, April 10.—James H. Leonard, of Manitowac, Wis., a passenger on the Sea Bird, saved himself by clinging to the wheel-house, and came ashore near Evanston, Ill., about two o'clock this morning.

CHICAGO, April 10.—James H. Leonard, the third survivor from the steamer Sea Bird, makes a statement, of which the following is the substance: At about seven o'clock yesterday morning went upon deck and conversed with the nrst mate of the steamer in regard to the distance to Chicago. Learned that it was about twenty miles. Then went to his wife's stateroom and soon afterwards heard the alarm of fire. Went out to ascertain the cause, and found the boat on fire, and the flames bursting out near the stern and close to the stateroom that he had just left. He immediately rushed to rescue his wife, but was prevented by the flames, which cut off communication with the stateroom. Did not see or hear of his wife after he left the stateroooom when the the alarm was given. Mr. Leonard agrees with the statement of Mr. Chamberlain as to the general description of the catastrophe, but thinks there were not more than thirty passengers on board. A large number got off at Milwaukee, much larger he thinks than the number that embarked at that port. Finding it too hot to stay on the boat, and realizing the fact that her destruction was inevitable, he sprang into the water, and being a vigorous swimmer soon got hold of a board, and soon after clambered upon a piece of the paddle box floating near. He clung to this, and drifted with the waves to the south-west, landing three miles north of Evanston, between seven and eight o'clock last night, after being upon the fragment of the wreck twelve hours. He was drenched to the skin, his clothing frozen, and himself nearer dead than alive after his perilous ride of not far from fifteen miles. Mr. Leonard saw about twenty passengers jump into the water. Some swam around for some time and others seemed to sink almost immediately. He saw no woman jump overboard, and did not see any woman in the water. He believes that there were about ten women on board, all of whom must have perished in the flames. An attempt was made to launch the steamer's boats, but the rapidity with which the flames spread rendered it impossible to accomplish that object. The sea was not very high and the boats could have easily weathered it if they could have been launched.

From the best evidence which Captain Goodrich, owner of the Sea Bird, has been able to obtain, no effort was made to stop the engines until circumstances prevented their further motion. The result was that the helm having been put aport, the boat began to describe circles of nearly a mile in diameter. The belief of those who ought to know is, that had the progress of the steamer been stopped at the first alarm, the boats might have been gotten out and all saved. The Steamboat Inspector of this district has issued an order to engineers of all steamers on the lake, and their assistants, to stop their engines on the instant of a fire alarm, without awaiting orders from superior officers, and not to start again without an order delivered personally by the chief officer.

—Panama advices say the agent of the North American Steamship Company has made contracts with Guatemala, Honduras and Salvador to run a line of steamers on the Pacific coast of Central America, in opposition to the Panama Railroad, with the privilege of extending to San Francisco.

—Congressman Ashley and Collector Mackey, of Charleston, addressed the citizens at a Radical meeting at Columbia, S. C., yesterday. They were challenged to a discussion last night with prominent Democratic speakers, and accepted the challenge, but the discussion failed to come off.

—Stephen J. Meany, the Fenian Head Centre, arrived at New York on the steamer Wm. Penn, having been released from servitude by the British Government on condition of his return to the United States. He was accompanied to Havre by British officers, and the pardon handed him when he sailed.

—In the neighborhood of Cincinnati, yesterday morning, (the snow of the previous day and night having been succeeded by rain,) the trees were covered with ice to such an extent that many were broken down. It is supposed that the peaches, cherries, pears, and all early fruits, are ruined. The apples are supposed to be safe.

—James Whelan, in custody as the assassin of McGee at Ottawa, Canada, is a Fenian, and belonged to a lodge in Quebec, afterwards to a New York circle. There seems to be but little doubt that he is the real culprit. A quantity of correspondence has been unearthed, implicating a considerable number of notables in the Fenian Brotherhood.

—Latest advices concerning Indian affairs state that Gen. Sheridan returned to Omaha from the Black Hills on Thursday, and was to leave for Leavenworth on Friday. The reports are that the Indians of the Powder river country refuse to treat with the Commissioners until every white man leaves the disputed territory. Meanwhile, those who will not leave are being driven away or killed.

RIVALS.

BY WILLIAM WALSH.

Of all the torments, all the cares,
With which our lives are curst,
Of all the plagues a lover bears,
Sure, rivals are the worst!
By partners in each other kind
Afflictions easier grow;
In love alone we hate to find
Companions of our woe.

Sylvia, for all the pangs you see
Are laboring in my breast,
I beg not you would favor me
Would you but slight the rest.
How great soe'r your rigors are,
With them alone I'll cope:
I can endure my own despair,
But not another's hope.

EPHEMERIS.

—Auber is the father of thirty-eight operas.

—Ristori will return to this country on the 29th inst.

—Miss Kate Reignolds, the actress, has gone to Europe.

—Weston is going to honor Buffalo by residing there.

—California has $220,000,000 worth of taxable property.

—Maggie Mitchell is going to Fanchonize Chicago next week.

—D'Israeli published "Vivian Grey" when he was only twenty years of age.

—The New Orleans French Opera Troupe is playing La Belle Helene in Cincinnati.

—Ex-Congressman Latham has been lecturing on our civil war to the Australians.

—No opposition is anticipated in Rhode Island to the re-election of Senator Sprague.

—A Montreal paper says it was Hercules who invented the first sleighing (slaying) club.

—A man in San Francisco got thirteen years in the penitentiary and was properly served.

—Mrs. Caroline H. Dall is going to publish an abridgement of Chevalier Bunsen's Egypt.

—Rogers, the sculptor, is doing up the courtship of Ichabod Crane and Katrina Van Tassel.

—Roasted rats formed the chief dish at the table of a poverty stricken family in Buffalo.

—The well-known Waterside Retreat at Atlantic City was blown away by the recent gale.

—The Lowell Courier, a paper with a funny man attached, calls the Pope "the old man of the See."

—Linda Carraccola has made her debut in the opera at Florence and is looked upon as the coming sensation.

—A Chicago edition of the Bible is proposed, with a couple of pages added to the family records for divorces.

—Parepa-Rosa sang the parts of Gabriel and Eve in the oratorio of "The Creation," at Hartford, Thursday evening.

—Andrew Johnson's spirits are low these days, it is said. He gets, we suppose, a fresh supply pretty often, however.

—A sub-marine diver in Illinois has estimated that he has spent three years of his life under water. He should marry the Fejee mermaid.

—Prof. F. Verdugo, who died recently at Salamanca, Spain, was the oldest physician in the world. He was 105 years of age, and had practised 80 years.

—People's readings, admission ten cents, are being given in New York. Hon. Horace Greely presided at the third of the series, which was given last night.

—It is said that Pierre Bernard, the husband of Caroline Richings, caned Dietrich, the ex-director of the English Opera troupe, out of the theatre in Cleveland.

—Some personalist says that Fanny Fern crimps her hair. Fanny says she does no such thing. A question of so much moment should be speedily decided.

—A valiant Mississippian caned a minister the other day, because he had married his beloved to his rival. Ministers and magistrates beware of Mississippians!

—The war in South America is probably drawing to a close. Humaita is expected soon to surrender, and by its fall to end the long protracted and unequal contest.

—Robertson's new drama "Play" has been brought out at Mrs. J. Drew's theatre for the first time in America. It is not a month since it was first produced in London.

—Joe Jefferson has been getting photographic views of the Mammoth Cave taken, and it is rumored that he is going to have them reproduced in a gorgeous spectacular play.

—An exchange says "a Troy man stabbed his wife in the breast the other day. Her life was saved by the same means used by General Jackaon to win the battle of New Orleans.

—Two cents a pound is the price of mutton at Melbourne, Australia. Beef is three cents a pound in some parts of Texas. Life is so easy in those places, that no hesitancy is felt in taking it.

—Theatricals in New York run low; Chanfrau is the only popular star now playing there, but Wallack's stock company includes J. W. Wallack, E. L. Davenport and Rose Eytinge.

—In France, Germany, Sweden and Saxony the average number of persons struck each year by lightning is 169 out of a population of 91,000,000. The majority of those struck are women.

—Judy denounces Mr. Chasuble, the Ritualist, but says that if he can succeed in getting a church built there can be no objection to his having as Moore sang "a bright little aisle of his own."

—The salary of the Governor General of Canada is $50,000 a year; about as much is paid to all of the Lieutenant Governors, so that the Dominion has a very pretty little yearly outlay in salaries to start on.

—The new steamer Japan sailed from New York yesterday to take its place on the San Francisco and China line. Two steamers, the Great Republic and China, are already running regularly on this line.

—There are two literary peers in the English House of Lords. Bulwer is now Lord Lytton of Knebworth; Monckton Milnes is Lord Houghton, and it is said that Stirling Maxwell is soon to be raised to the peerage by Mr. D'Israeli, who will himself probably before long take a seat in the upper House.

—A grand ball to inaugurate Pike's new hall in Cincinnati is announced for the 15th inst. The names of Hons. Geo. H. Pendleton and Chas F. Wilstach are included in the list of the committee of arrangements.

—Julia Ward Howe is reading in Portland, Maine, and it is said she reads well. She is the lady who can converse fluently in eight different languages, which makes just eight more than a good many people can converse in.

—Swinburne is writing a poem on Tristram nnd Isolde. He differs so much in his estimate of the characters of the legends of the middle ages from the Laureate, that he is going to write an essay on the "Women of Arthurian Romance."

—The little South American States are still playing their little game of revolutions merrily, and probably will keep on at it until annihilation ensues or somebody of strong-brained Saxons drops down on them and usurps the upper hand.

—Dr. Boynton, who, before the late war was distinguished as a lecturer on Geology, and who had his diagrams and scientific apparatus confiscated in Virginia by the Rebel powers, has returned to the lecturing field, and is drawing full houses in Philadelphia.

—A sensational man is the thing most wanted just uow. Sheridan, Johnson and Dickens having succeeded each other in rapid succession as the meteors to which all eyes were turned. Who the next one is to be we can't say, but at present we have none.

—At Alton, Illinois, on Monday, a barge laden with 800 tons of ice was burned. The loss sustained by the conflagration was $10,000. We cannot remember any more persevering fire. Eight hundred tons of ice would discourage any common spark from growing any larger.

—All those people who all along have persisted in doubting the existence, in this world, of Dr. Livingstone, the great hero of Africa, will probably discredit the cablegram to the effect that Sir Roderick Murchison has received a letter from the missing traveler, stating that he is well and progressing.

—The late Maryland Legislature abolished the 4th of July holiday in the public schools of the State. The next thing will probably be the desposition of George Washington from the high position as Father of his Country, and the instalment in his place of that sweet bird Gov. Swann, whose sweetest song most of us would like to hear.

Female Gamblers in New York.

The prevailing vice among New Yorkers is gambling. Men gamble in stocks and gold, and when the stock market is closed they indulge in the healthy pastime of "fighting the tiger," otherwise called faro. In many of the downtown business streets gambling "hells" are located, in order to accommodate merchants with a "little game" during hours of toil. Up town, on Broadway, from Spring street even as far as Fortieth street, two or three gambling saloons are on each block, and the side streets are infested with them. Hovering about these doors are men arrayed in spotless broadcloth and fine linen, shiny silk hats and dyed moustaches, waiting, ready and anxious, to pounce upon the unwary and lead them to destruction. To what extent gambling is carried on, our police records will show. Bank clerks, cashiers and treasurers become defaulters, and the origin of the crime is traced to one cause, gambling. The police know this, and are cognizant of the whereabouts of each "hell," yet no effort is made toward their suppression. It is true a raid is occasionally made on some poor unfortunate, but the "big guns," like John Morrissey, John C. Heenan, George Beers, Joe Hall and others, go scot free.

What is "sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," is an old saying, and the matter of gambling is no exception to the rule. The wives and daughters of our most wealthy citizens are afflicted with the mania, and play as deeply and heavily as their husbands and fathers. In Twenty-third street, near Madison avenue, is a gambling house, patronized exclusively by females. With the kind permission of your readers we will visit it.

It is a modest, unpretentious-looking house, the entrance scrupulously clean, and presenting no different appearance, externally, than those adjoining, save the blinds are all tightly closed. Ringing the bell, we are admitted by a georgeously apparelled woman, who acts as janitress. On one side of the hall is a superb painting of Leda and the Swan; on the opposite side is another painting, equally good, of Venus rising from the sea. Ascending the stairs, we are ushered into the parlors on the first floor. They are elegantly, even luxuriously furnished. The person who fitted up these rooms must have had exquisite taste. The paintings hanging on the walls are rare and valuable, but the most conspicuous, and the one that first strikes the eye and rivets the attention, is the painting by Ary Schæffer of the gambling scene from Bulwer's play of "Money," and for which, it is stated, August Belmont has offered $20,000 and been refused.

Seated around the room and at the gambling table are a number of ladies, all of whom are dressed in the height of fashion. The players are flushed with excitement, but the dealer, in her Pompadour waist, half revealing, half concealing an ample bust, sits calm and collected, and rakes in the "chips" with the utmost sang froid. Ever and anon some player, when a heavy bet is lost, calls for wine, which is speedily supplied by an attentive and demure looking Hebe. Demure! Yes, but it is the demureness of a cat. Offend her, and she will quickly show that she has claws.

That lady at the centre of the table, sitting between Anonyma and Aspasia, is the wife of one of our most wealthy merchants. I could tell you her name, but tales must never be told out of school. Observe that young lady, with a bonnet no larger than a cockle shell, and Bismarck brown ribbons; the one who is now taking off her diamond ring to stake, and which she will lose as sure as eggs is eggs, is the daughter of an ex-Judge. Ah! our wealthy merchant's wife is a loser; see, she rises from the table biting her lips till the blood comes to conceal her emotions. Come, let us away, such scenes do not make our opinion of poor, weak human nature the more exalted.

Is it any wonder that we so frequently see rewards offered for lost diamond rings, necklaces and bracelets? If we had the power of Asmodeus, we would see these "lost" articles in the safe of some gentleman who has for his sign the old Lombardy emblem of three balls. The thirst for gambling will be satisfied, and money must be obtained. Yes, yes, Hamlet was right, "there are more things in heaven and earth than are dreamed of in our philosophy."—New York Cor. Syracuse Standard.

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.
Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, facteries, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

RIVER NEWS.

The stage of water by the Monongahela marks last evening was seven feet nine inches, and at a stand.

The towboats Resolute, Hornet and Tigress were expected to leave for Cincinnati yesterday with tows of coal, in all, about one hundred and fifty thousand bushels.

The Emma No. 3 cleared for St. Louis last evening with a good trip, having about all the freight she could take, and a large number passengers.

The St. Charles and Argosy got in from Cincinnati on Thursday evening. Thr Argosy brought up a good cargo, including a considerable amount of metal. She will lie over until next Wednesday, her regular day, when she will take her departure for Cincinnati.

Robt. Moore departed for Portsmouth; also, the Bayard tor Parkersburg, both with fair trips.

The Grey Egle, Capt. C. L. Brennan, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The Kate Robinson, Capt. Robt. Robinsan, with Messrs. Palmer and Wherry, in the office, will positively take her departure for Cincinnati and Louisville. The Kate will be followed by the R. C. Grey, Capt. W. B. Anderson.

The Glasgow, Capt. Geo. W. Johnston, will leave to-day for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi.

The Ida Rees, Capt. Albert, is announced to take her departure for the gold regions to-day. She will be followed by the Importer, Capt. Williams, and Silver Lake, Capt. Todd.

The Emma No. 3, Capt. J. H. Marratta, will positively leave for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi this morning at 10 o'clock.

The Lorena and St. Marys left Louisville on Wednesday for Pittsburgh—also the towboat Hercules.

The Ida Rees, Capt. Rees Rees, is the regular packet for Oil City to-day, leaving at 4 p, m. The Ida is a neat and comfortable packet, and is a favorite in the trade.

The Allegheny pier marks last evening indicated seven feet eight tnches and falling slowly. We should not be surprised to see a freshet in this stream before long, under the influence of the recent soft weather. It was stationary at Oil City yesterday, with twenty-eight inches in the channel.

We had quite a snow storm on Thursday night, but it melted almost as soon as it touched the ground, and last evening it was nowhere visible. The weather thus far this month has been anything but pleasant, and very changeable.

The Bellevernon left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Wednesday, and the St. Marys was advertised to leave on Thursday.

The Amelia Poe and Sallie left St. Louis for Fort Benton on Wednesday; also the Octavia.

Capt. James Keniston, of the Melnotte, fell through one of the Hatches of the Shamrock, at Cincinnati on Wednesday, and was badly hurt, his head being but in several places, his hand receiving some cuts, and hip being brused. He was able to be about the wharf shortly afterwards.

Capt. Al. Brown yesterday sold his half of the W. F. Curtis of the W. F. Curtis to the Mason City Coal and Salt Company for $6000 in stock of the company, and $500 ln salt.

We find the following legal question in one our exchanges: Suppose a man owns a skiff; he fastens the skiff to the shore with a rope made of straw; along comes a cow; cow gets into the boat; turns around and eats the rope; the skiff thus let loose with the cow on board starts down stream, and on its passage is upset, and the cow is drowned. Now, has the man that owns the cow got to pay for the boat, or the man that owns the boat got to pay for the cow.

The Andrew Ackley, Glendale, Messenger and Kate Putnam arrived at St. Louis on Wednesday, and the Wild Duck and barges departed the same day for Pittsburgh.

The Silver Cloud, from Pittsburgh, arrived at Davenport Monday. The Phil Sheridan reached St. Paul on the 4th, the first boat of the season, and the earliest arrival since 1860.

The towboat Panther left Memphis on Wednesday for New Orleans, and the Dick Fulton departed the same day for Pittsburgh. The Armenia, from Pittsburgh to St. Louis, passed Evansville on Wednesday.

The Cincinnati Times says: Mr. Patterson, clerk of the steamer Abeona was on the first boat (the Kate Howard) that ever went up the Missouri River with a calliope. The natives were astonished and bewildered at its melodies, But the strains were too severe for his patience, so, procuring a pot of moulten lead, he washed the keys with it, and forever more silenced it. It is proposed that boats be constructed with steam pipes to which may be attached a rubber hose, and that men shall have calliopes on the wharf, to which they will attach the hose, and blow for any boat for so much an hour.

Rivers and Weather.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, April 10.—River rising slowly, with seven feet six inches in the canal. Weather cloudy and cold.

ST. LOUIS, April 10.—Weather cloudy with indications of clearing up. There was no rain to-day, but it is still cold.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 138⅜.

THE President's especial friends, i. e. his counsel and his Secretaries, with a brace or two of newspaper correspondents, are very confident of his acquittal. Their efforts to lead the public mind to a similar belief remind one of the old lady's attempt to sweep back the ocean with a broom.

THE NEW tax-bill, now before a Congressional Committee, will make nearly one thousand printed pages and would occupy Congress nearly two months. It is believed at Washington, thefore, that no general bill will now be passed. Whiskey, tobacco and some other articles will be attended to, and the residue of the proposed amendments left over for the next session.

FLORIDA holds her Constitutional election on the 4th, 5th and 6th of May. A schism in the Convention resulted in the preparation of two Constitutions, but it is believed that one of these will be seasonably withdrawn; otherwise, both are likely to be defeated. The efforts to heal dissensions among our friends in North Carolina prior to the election day, are likely, also, to be successful.

THE Erie Gazette with decided impudence and coolness hints that "reliable Republican journals" should take the place of those which fail to eulogize LOWRY, the State Senator from the Erie district. We are amused at this new test of reliability as furnished by our somewhat obscure neighbor. If its advice prevails there will spring into existence many new Republican journals throughout the State.

ANOTHER large draft has been made upon the unemployed operatives of this vicinity, by the general resumption of work which has been for three months suspended in the collieries bordering upon the Monongahela and its tributary, the Youghiogheny. The miners, who have been "out" on a strike for the period stated, accepted on Thursday the wages offered by the pit-owners, and have gone in to work. Employment at fair rates is once more given to several thousands of operatives in the various branches of labor in and about these great collieries. With the miners who merely dig the mineral and load their wagons for its transportation to the surface, work is again given to a large force of track and switch-men, bank-viewers, teamsters, boat-men, &c., whose numbers are usually quite equal, in each large colliery, to the miners themselves. We are safe in estimating the number who once more have employment and wages at not less than four thousand persons, whose earnings, at the present rates, will range from $1.50 to $3.50 and $4.00 per day, and the aggregate pay-rolls for weekly disbursement will range from $60,000 to $70,000, including the entire district in which work is now resumed. It only needs now that our forges, founderies, rolling-mills and glass-factories should be again in full operation, to restore the largest measure of prosperity to the city. And the day for this general renewal of activity in all our leading manufactures may not be very far distant.

WHEN the champions of "the peculiar institution" were endeavoring to engraft it upon Kansas, they reached a point at which it became necessary, in furtherance of that design, to cause the arrest of a number of the Free State Leaders, in order to get them out of the way. Accordingly, five of them were arrested on a charge of treason, and in the absence of a jail were put into military custody, Col. ST. GEORGE COOKE'S regiment being encamped on the plains, and made to to keep guard over the prisoners. It was early in the spring when the arrests were made. Indictments were found against the accused at the June term, and the prisoners brought into Court, Judge LECOMPTE presiding. They put in pleas of not guilty, said they were ready and anxious to have the trials proceed; but the District Attorney asked for delay, that he might make further preparation. At his request, the cases were put over to the fall term. Upon hearing this order, the prisoners requested to be admitted to bail, offering to give security in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars each. The Court decided that the offense with which they were charged was not bailable at that stage of the proceedings. Consequently, they were taken back to camp, and held under guard for three months longer.

In the fall they were brought into Court again. The time had not arrived when the pro-slavery leaders thought they could safely allow of the enlargement of the accused, and, believing a conviction to be at least doubtful, were anxious the cases should again go over. The District Attorney asked another postponement on two grounds: First, that he was still unready, and second, that the excitement in the Territory made it unsafe for him to proceed. The complying Judge LECOMPTE heard the counsel for the prisoners, and then intimated his intention to put the cases over.

At this point rose up one of the prisoners. This was Mr. GEORGE W. BROWN, (formerly of Crawford county, in this State,) editor of the Kansas Herald of Freedom. He asked permission to address the Court, and was told to proceed. He said substantially—"Your Honor, we have been detained as prisoners four full months, all the while protesting our innocence, and demanding to be tried according to the laws. At the June term, the Government was not ready. It is not ready now. We are ready, and demand that our trials be not farther delayed. Besides, it is not for the Government to urge the existence of excitement in the community; that being the privilege exclusively of defendants in criminal cases. More; when prisoners are ready for trial, and the Government unready, by the laws of all the States, even in murder cases the accused, in case the government will not proceed, have the right to be released on common bail; that is, on their own recognizance. We stand upon our rights." Judge LECOMPTE, turning to the District Attorney, inquired what he had to say in answer to the points thus raised. He frankly admitted that the points were well taken, considered in the light of legal principles. Judge LECOMPTE ordered the prisoners to be released on common bail. Before the next term, the pro-slavery champions abandoned the cases, and they have never been called.

The principles herein involved are not without an application to the case of Mr. JEFFERSON DAVIS, which both the Supreme Court and the people of the United States will do well to consider. Chief Justice CHASE can afford to hold as even a balance as Judge LECOMPTE.

MR. JOHNSON'S DEFENSE.

The opening argument of Mr. JOHNSON'S counsel accords, in its general drift, with the expectations of the public for ten days past. But our intelligent readers will concur with us in the opinion that, so far as it purports to embody the President's case in defense, it is essentially a failure. Making a show of grappling boldly with the main issue, which had already been formally made in the pleadings, viz: the constitutionality of the Tenure-of-Office law, the whole course and the tenor of Judge Curtis' argument is no more than a ceaseless kaleidoscopic variation from one to the other of the opposite and most inconsistent extremes between which Mr. Johnson is finding himself crucified. At one moment his counsel denies the constitutionality of the law; at another he defends its spirit and endeavors to show that the act of his client did not fall within its scope. In one breath, he asserts the President's unrestricted right of appointment and removal; at the next, he fortifies him within precedents which he admits to be based upon no express law whatever. Now, he claims that Mr. Stanton was justly removed; then he reminds the Senate that, as no removal was perfected by the Secretary's assent, no violation of the law can be justly charged. Here he gives good reasons why a Secretary should hold office during the term of the President who appoints him; there, ignoring the fact that the Secretary's office was confirmed to him by Mr. Johnson's express act, he asserts an absolute right to remove him at pleasure. He admits that the suspension was in deference to a law with which his client aimed to avoid a conflict: he subsequently argues that it was his client's duty to reject the enactment as binding in any particular, and to make a case for judicial interpretation. He declares that an individual may plead and establish, for an adequate defense, the unconstitutionality of a law which he is arraigned for violating, and boldly claims the same right for the magistrate who is sworn to execute every law when enacted.

The argument of Judge CURTIS presents no new views of his client's case. Every point that he takes has been already and quite as forcibly elaborated by the Democratic journalists and politicians who have so generally volunteered, amici curiæ, in the interests of pure justice, to say a good word for their friend at the bar. The argument abounds with the technical astuteness, the verbal criticisms, the hair-splitting distinctions, the fine points and the plausible but shallow exceptions of the mere lawyer, who is at the head of his profession, no doubt, as to that sort of ability, but it lacks the comprehensive breadth of consideration, the enlarged, wise, liberal views, the just conceptions of public duty, of the necessities of the State, of the intentions of the Fathers and of the requirements of the future, which can only animate the statesman. He has not risen to the higher plane upon which the merits of impeachment are to be judged. It is a State necessity, far more than any mere vindication of a law violated in its letter, but, as to either one or the other, has abundant justification in the facts, and upon both grounds the judgment of the Senate awaits the proper hour for delivery.

A LAW WHICH SHOULD BE REPEALED.

Of the four contested election cases yet to be decided by the House of Representatives, two are from Missouri, one from Utah and one from Ohio. The latter, DELANO vs. MORGAN, is much the most important, the case turning upon the law of Congress disqualifying deserters from voting. The evidence in this case is very voluminous, but is said to establish the clear title of Mr. DELANO to the seat, under the operation of the law referred to. While the other contests will be disposed of, it is likely, with but brief discussion in the House, a sharp contest will be made on the floor when the Committee's report in Mr. DELANO'S favor shall be presented. If the House should concur with the Committee in accepting, as proved, the fact that his opponent holds the seat only by virtue of votes which the law has declared illegal, they have no option, but must recognize the law and award the seat to the contestant.

The experience, however, of the House, in this and other cases, and the general sentiment of the country alike suggests the repeal at this period of the enactment upon which these contests have hinged. We can never hesitate to concur in any just expressions of the public disapproval of the shameful refusal of any citizen to meet, like a good loyal citizen and true patriot, each and all of his obligations to his country, whether in peace or war. We have no sympathy for "skedaddlers," or draft-sneaks, or deserters, who fled from their duty or turned their backs upon the old flag during the rebellion. We can subscribe to any well-considered legislation which shall punish such conduct by a loss of civil privileges, or shall brand it with the stigma of a life-long disgrace. But we have never been able to regard the law in question as capable of any proper, practicable enforcement. The subsequent purging of the polls, with all the intricacy of investigation and the delays which must attend cases like this from Ohio, constitutes, in fact, the only way in which the law as it stands can be made operative. It is, practically, a fatal objection to any law regulating suffrage that it has no other method of enforcement than by a contest afterwards. Every law to that end should be so contrived, in principle or details, as to be immediately effective at the polls themselves. Contests and scrutinies of the ballots should be the rare necessary exception and not the constant, unavoidable result. The inspectors and judges of elections should not be exposed to the alternative, either of admitting a class of votes of a very doubtful legality or illegality, with the inevitable contest afterwards, or of suspending the poll until they can take evidence and decide each claim as it is challenged, according to its merits upon the facts to be then submitted. The latter course is evidently not within the purview of our election laws, while the former can only result in a certain contest in every close poll, or in an entire disregard of the law of the land as it is written, where the majority is in any event, even with such votes thrown out, a large one for the successful candidate. We regard the present law, therefore, as impracticable in theory, as inoperative in point of fact, and that these are ample reasons to justify its repeal. We observe that a bill modifying the provision was introduced on Thursday, and infer that the view we have taken is shared in by members of the House. It is better that the class of undeserving citizens, whom the present law was intended to reach, should be punished, if at all by law, in some more convenient, practical and decisive way, or that, if that be not possible, they should be remitted to the contemptuous regards of the vicinage, which may be relied upon to keep alive the shameful remembrance during the offenders' natural lives. A good deal better this, than to retain upon the Federal statute-book any enactment which is incapable of general, effectual and prompt enforcement.

OUR SLOW POISON.

At the village of Terling, in Essex, England, one hundred and eighty persons, out of a population of about nine hundred, were recently victims of a new and strange epidemic, and some twenty or more of the cases resulted fatally. It was ascertained, upon investigation, that the epidemic was wholly attributable to the use of well-water which was poisoned by the sewerage of the town.

We doubt if the citizens of Pittsburgh are yet quite ready to appreciate the vital importance of a supply of pure water to the health of our vast and rapidly extending population. They remember that the supply from our reservoirs was unclean last year, offensive to the taste, the smell and even the sight. Because it was not found to be so offensive to the internal organs of the body, may be owing, perhaps, to our fortunate exemption, thus far, from the scourge of such a visitation as that in the English village above spoken of. But are our readers quite sure that their bills of mortality in the summer and autumn of 1867 were not increased by the fatal secondary results of drinking a diluted sewerage? Can the medical practitioners of the city cordially and conscientiously unite in a statement that no maladies of the season were intensified, no symptoms aggravated, no usual and proper medication mysteriously and effectively resisted, by reason of the vile elements which lay but half hidden in this fluid, which is the essential basis of food for the well and of diet for the invalid? Can they certify to us that the impure water which we were for months compelled to use, had no deleterious effect upon the general health? Are they quite sure that among the very young, the children, the infants, such a large number of whom are swept away each year, there were none whose deaths might be traceable directly to the fatal influence of the fluid with which, in various combinations, they were so largely fed. What physician, what mother, does not know that, in the absence of the food which natures provides for infant nurture, the absolute purity of the water with which another diet must be prepared is vitally essential not only to health but to life itself?

So long as strong men think themselves able to "stand" the daily use, for months, of impure water without manifest and patent injury to health; so long as the citizens of Pittsburgh shall escape the impending visitation of a fatal epidemic, which sooner or later, is sure to sweep down upon them in the avenging, resistless fury, with which nature ever vindicates her outraged laws; so long as this slow poison which reaches every household, and goes into every mouth, and is taken into the blood of every life in Pittsburgh, confines its insidious ravages to the mere aggravation of ordinary and usual diseases, or to its more direct and palpable assaults upon tender infant life: so long as the avenging Nemesis of pestilence forbears to punish our neglect, just so long may our people be found procrastinating, putting over from year to year, until a more convenient season, this plain, urgent duty of reform in their water-supply. We hope that, when they shall at last not only perceive their duty but resolve to perform it, the immediate pressing necessity will not be enforced by the ghastly presence of a sweeping and terrible mortality.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The new "Church of the Messiah," New York, Rev. Dr. Osgood pastor, was dedicated on the 2d inst. It is represented as being one of the most beautiful churches in Gotham, and occupies a commanding site. The pastor belongs to the conservative wing of the Unitarian denomination.

It is thought some few cases of recent awakening have taken their origin in the State Conventions of the Young Men's Christian Associations, and in the faithful efforts of young men and laymen.

Quite an interesting work of revival exists in the Lutheran College in Gettysburg, Pa. About twenty have already found peace in believing, and the work is still progressing.

Bishop Eastburn, of Massachusetts, preached on a recent Sabbath in Boston, in the Old South Congregational Church. He had on no gown, nor bands, but his usual citizen's dress; he offered extemporaneous prayer; spoke of the house they were in as the temple of God, and prayed for "all ministers of the Gospel, and the congregations committed to their charge." Dr. Nicholson, an Episcopal clergyman of that city, has recently officiated in a meeting house.

The annual meeting of the New York City Sunday School and Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, was held in that city some days since. Its mission element has had a wonderful success during its brief history. Already the real estate and other property belonging to the Society, is valued at $71,600, and consists almost exclusively in Mission chapels, for preaching and Sunday School purposes. The receipts for fourteen months ending March 1, amount to $65,766,95, and the expenditures, $65,248,10. The President, W. W. Cornell, is a live layman.

The call for the National Convention of Christians, opposed to secret societies, is being widely circulated. The meeting will be doubtless an important one, judging from the efforts of those in the management to secure eminent speakers, and a full representation from all parts of the country. The Convention is to be held in this city, commencing Wednesday, the 5th of May, and continuing four days.

The newly acquired right of females to exercise the right of suffrage in New York, in the election of trustees, was effectually used by the female members of Alanson M. E. Church, Brooklyn, the other day. The novelty of the thing, we presume, brought out large numbers, and one trustee received four hundred and thirty votes—most of them by females. The Discipline of this body of Christians provides for the election of trustees by the Quarterly Conference, unless the corporation of a church avail themselves of State laws.

Reference has already been made to the wonderful awakening in New Albany, Ind., and the effect it has had upon the community in various ways. According to a daily of that city, the accessions to the Presbyterian churches, reach about three hundred and fifty, to the United Brethren nearly seventy, and to the Methodist churches, including the German, nearly nine hundred, making a grand total of over thirteen hundred accessions to the Protestant churches of the city during the past winter.

The Maryland Legislature have before them a bill, if not already passed, with a view to provide such favorable legislation that Southern Methodists can disposses the Methodist Episcopal Church of its property. However much the State laws may favor the Southern Methodists, we presume the Federal Courts will protect the M. E. Church in her sovereign rights. Considerable feeling has been roused by this special legislation.

The Southern Baptist Convention meets in the Seventh Baptist Church, Baltimore, Md., on May 7th. The Committee of Arrangements give notice to any brethren of Baptist Churches, or corresponding Associations in the North, who desire to attend the Convention, that they will receive a cordial welcome, and hospitable entertainment during their visit.

Friday the 27th of April, has been set apart, by request of the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, as a day of fasting, special prayer, and intercession in behalf of the General Conference, which meets in Chicago, on the first day of May.

An extensive revival has occurred at Mansfield, Ohio, especially in the Lutheran Church, which has had two hundred accessions. Such crowds were in attendance at the services that the pastor was comstrained to request the older members to remain at home, in order to give the impenitent hearing room. The congregation now numbers five hundred members.

Grants were made at the late stated monthly meeting of the American Bible Society, New York, amounting to 26,256 volumes, besides others to the value of $2,080. Rev. Herman Dyer, D. D., of the Episcopal Church, New York, and Rev. P. H. Fowler, D. D., of Utica, N. Y., were elected delegates to represent the Society at the approaching annual meeting of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

A Boston paper, Zion's Herald, represents "Trix," a new perfume for the health, to hide sin, and is only whisky salved over. It says it is one of the tricks of Satan, is Trix.

The Lutheran Synod of Pennsylvania is having prepared a beautiful medal, commemorative of this, the seventh Jubilee anniversary of the Reformation. It is the intention to give one to every Sunday School scholar in connection with this church. It will be a precious treasure to them in years to come, and will be referred to by them with great delight should they live to see and enjoy another such greaat festival.

A. M. BROWN, ESQ.

Perhaps no name has been more prominently and favorably mentioned in private and public circles for successorship to Gen. J. K. MOORHEAD in Congress than that of A. M. BROWN, Esq. No better or stronger candidate could have been selected, but he peremptorily declines taking the field for that or any other office, preferring to devote his entire attention to his large legal practice. Here is what he says:

MESSRS. EDITORS GAZETTE:—Notwithstanding my repeated and uniform declarations of refusal to stand as a candidate for Congress, I find my name again presented in this morning's GAZETTE for that office.

Whilst I duly appreciate the partiality of my friends and the honor and importance of the position named, my determination to continue the practice of my profession, and not be a candidate for office, remains unchanged.

My sincere thanks are due, and hereby tendered, to the many friends who generously offered me their valuable support.

A. M. BROWN.

PITTSBURGH, April 10, 1868.

WE ARE not to be outdone in magnanimity by the GAZETTE, and cheerfully withdraw the charge that it endorsed the utterances of Hickman, but our magnanimity, copious and extensive as it is, will not permit us to recant the political opinions expressed in the Post because they are offensive to large sections of the population of this city and county.—Pittsburgh Post.

The Post, as it has the right to be, is decidedly partizan, and maintains, usually, a bad cause with grace and ability, its columns indicating that none know better than its managers the practical value of courtesy, and of a just regard for the proprieties of political journalism.

—Advices from Mexico to the 3d state: The Diario (official) has been forbidden to publish Ex-Minister Romero's private conversation with Senators Sumner and Fowler. Romero asserts that the Republic did not owe the United States as much as was generally claimed at the end of the war against the French. Every mail fails owing to the attempts that are made to bully correspondents into representing the tone of sentiment and state of affairs in Mexico in favorable colors. The French and Austrian residents are leaving in haste. General Herman and others have been banished. A military squad pursued a German, eighty years of his age, on his departure. On the 2d inst. President Juarez, in an address to the members of Congress, compliments the country, and refers in flattering terms to the budget and the condition of the Treasury. The Chairman replied in the same strain. Every one looked jubilant on the occasion.

—A son of James Rankin, of Mt. Pleasant township, Washington county, was shot through the head one day last week and instantly killed. He was handling a loaded rifle, and while blowing into the muzzle put his foot upon the trigger and the gun was discharged, the contents passing through his head.

—A trestle work over Mahoning Creek at Eddyville, Armstrong county, erected preparatory to the building of a bridge, fell last Wednesday, precipitating the workmen into the creek. The contractor, Mr. Hastings, was thrown sixteen feet, but was fortunately not hurt.

—Alaska advices to March 26th, say that the health of the garrison was good. Several Indian chiefs visited headquarters and were entertained by Gen. Davis.

GOOD HEALTH

IS THE GREATEST OF ALL BLESSINGS,

And to preserve it is the privilege and duty of all.

DR. SARGENT'S

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC AND LIVER PILLS

Are the great sovereign, speedy and sure cure of the age, for Dyspepsia, either in its mildest or worst stages, and hundreds who have long suffered under the inflictions of this most annoying and dangerous disease, have by the use of this invaluable medicine been restored to health and the enjoyment of life.

Is your Liver in a torpid condition of inaction, thereby deranging the whole system?

DR. SARGENT'S LIVER PILLS

Will speedily remove the secretions and restore it to a healthy state.

Are you troubled with loss of appetite, foul stomach, eructations of wind, sick headache and general derangement of the digestive organs?

DR. SARGENT'S LIVER PILLS

Are a sure, safe and permanent remedy, and by their mild but certain action will cleanse, renovate and reinvigorate the system.

DR. SARGENT'S LIVER PILLS stand high as one of the standard medicines of the age. For the cure of all diseases arising from a disordered state of the liver, as can be attested by the certificates of large numbers of our citizens who have been benefited and cured by their use.

These Pills can be obtained, either Plain or Sugar Coated, from all Druggists in the country.

UNRIVALLED.

Nothing that has ever been known or heard of a tonic adds so much to the resistant power of the human system, under circumstances unfavorable to health, as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. If you would escape the intermittent fevers, fits of indigestion, bilious attacks and bowel complaints, of which cold and damp are the frequent causes, use the BITTERS as a PROTECTIVE MEDICINE. This is the wisest course; but if already an invalid, try the preparation as a RESTORATIVE. In either case full reliance may be placed upon its efficacy.

There is no mystery about the causes of its success. It is the only stomachic and alterative in which are combined the grand requisites of a mild, pure and unvitiated vegetable stimulant, with the finest selection of tonic, anti-bilious, anti-scorbutic, aperient and depurative herbs, plants, roots and barks that have ever been intermixed in a medicinal preparation.

The Bitters have this distinctive quality, which is not shared, it is believed, by any tonic, tincture or extract in the world. It does not excite the pulse, though it infuses a wonderful degree of vigor into the nervous system, and strengthens and sustains the whole physical organization.

California and Australia have emphatically endorsed it as the MINER'S MEDICINE par excellence, and in Spanish America and all the tropical climate, it is considered the only reliable antidote to epidemic fevers.

The already immense and still increasing consumption of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, backed by many of the most influential physicians throughout the country, should convince the most skeptical that it is worthy the confidence and approbation of all.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 130 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,

Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. list these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

IN DESCRIBING A

RECEPTION AT THE WHITE HOUSE,

THE WASHINGTON STAR SAYS:

"A peculiar style of wearing the hair, last evening, among the ladies, was a subject of much comment, and the remarks were, for the most part, altogether in its favor, as a becoming substitute for the waterfall."

An exchange says: "Now that the 'waterfall' is is a little passé, it is rumored that it originated not in Paris, but in India." The luxuriant, glossy tresses of the maidens of the Indies have, for centuries, been celebrated and sung by a thousand bewitched poetasters, while the secret of their hirsute charms remained undiscovered. It was left to Burnett, the famous Boston chemist, to solve the mystery, in his invention of the article styled "COCOAINE," by which the active principle of cocoa-nut oil (a product which the natives used,) is secured in a deodorized and liquid form, delightfully perfumed and chemically combined with other ingredients. This compound forms an article unrivalled in excellence, upon which the public has, for years, set its seal of enduring approval. Its fame is universal.—Cincinnati Enquirer, Feb. 19, 1865.

Burnett's Cocoaine

Is the hair-dressing which the belles and fashion of this country use. Its effect upon the glossiness and richness of the appearance of natural and artificial hair is equally durable, splendid and efficacious.

"Burnett's standard preparations are celebrated throughout the civilized world."—N. Y. Tribune.

Burnett's Standard Preparations

Are just now all the rage among the ladies, who generally indorse them as unrivalled. They express themselves highly delighted with and dwell with no slight enthusiasm on its wonderful effect in promoting and preserving the beauty of the hair.

Burnett's Cocoaine,

Burnett's Kalliston

is equally admired as a healthful, fragrant and beautifying cosmetic. Burnett & Co. are also the proprietors of the choice perfume called and of the pleasing dentrifice,

Burnett's Florimel,

Burnett's Oriental Tooth Wash.

They have since added

Burnett's Cologne Water

to the list. It is much admired by connoisseurs, among whom it has acquired the reputation of being second to none other, foreign or domestic.

BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS

Take unexceptional rank as the best made in America. They are carefully prepared from fruits and spices of the best quality. Their universal success is based upon their merit. Reference is made to the principal Purveyors, Confectioners and Hotels in the United States.—Chicago Tribune.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS,

We heartily recommend them to all our readers.—Leslie's Family Magazine.

Once used, they recommend themselves.—Christian Freeman, Boston.

Burnett's reputation is a sufficient guarantee of the excellence of his preparations.—Boston Journal.

We learn from the first confectioner in this city that Burnett's Extracts of Fruits and Flowers are equal to the English articles of the same kind of the highest celebrity.—Montreal Witness.

SUBSTANTIAL TESTIMONY.

NEW YORK, January 6, 1868.

BURNETT'S STANDARD PREPARATIONS rank high among the leading staples in our line of trade. Experience has taught us that a reputation so wide-spread and enviable as that enjoyed by the articles of their manufacture, can only be earned by genuine merit.

Yours, respectfully,

DAMAS BARNES & CO.

The above expresses the opinion of dealers generally. For sale wholesale and retail by all druggists and dealers in medicine.

Burnett's Oriental Tooth Wash

Is a preserver of the teeth, and beautifies them without injury to the enamel. In this respect it stands alone. The evidence of Chemists and of the Dental Faculty substantiates these facts.

Burnett's Florimel

Closely resembles the odor of a rare and delicate bouquet of flowers, and in this respect stands unrivalled. A few drops will leave its peculiar and delightful fragrance upon the handkerchief for many hours.

Lightning Rods

Munson's Copper Tubular Lightning Rod, WITH SPIRAL FLANGES,

Has been erected on thousands of buildings in all parts of the United States, and in a test of ten years no instance of their inefficiency has occurred. This Rod has received the First Premiums at the Fairs of nearly all the States, and every place it was ever exhibited. It has been endorsed by over five hundred Professors in Colleges, and other scientific men, as the best Rod ever invented, possessing all the elements necessary to protect buildings from lightning. It is made of copper, because this is the best metallic conductor, except silver, and does not rust. Its spiral flanges and rough edges dissipate electricity and double its conducting power. Electricity uses only the surface, never the heart of a metal. One flange of this Rod being open, the inside surface is available as well as the outside; altogether, its power surpasses twenty common iron rods or a solid copper rod an inch and a half thick, and has the additional advantage that it is continuous, and can never become disjointed or otherwise get out of order, but will endure as long as the building stands on which it is erected. Our points are made on the most approved method, and our Insulators are unsurpassed. No holes are made in slate or tin roofs.

Our customers will have the benefit of our new Insulator, patented in 1867. The price is thirty cents per foot, and three dollars for each top; this includes the cost of putting the rod on buildings—there are no extra charges of any kind. Within the past few years we have erected this rod on many churches and other public edifices in Pittsburgh and vicinity, and upon thousands of dwellings and barns. For the superior character of this rod we are permitted to refer to Rev. I. C. Pershing, D. D., President Pittsburgh Female College; Philotus Dean, Esq., Professor Natural Sciences, Pittsburgh High School; Geo. Woods, LL. D., Pres't. Western University of Pennsylvania.

Thankful for the liberal orders of past years, we solicit a continuation of public patronage.

WANTED.—AGENTS FOR THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR: Its Causes, Character, Conduct and Results. By Hon. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS. A Book for all sections and parties.

This great work presents the only complete and impartial analysis of the Causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

The intense desire every where manifested to obtain this work, combined with an increased commission, makes it the best subscription book ever published.

One Agent in Easton, Pa., reports 72 subscribers in three days.

Another in Boston reports 103 subscribers in four days.

Send for circulars and see our terms, and a full description of the work, with notices of the Press, &c.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE OF GOLD MINING STOCKS, SILVER, LEAD AND OTHER STOCKS, PATENT RIGHTS, &c.—TUESDAY EVENING, April 14th, at 7½ o'clock, will be sold on second floor of the Commercial Sales Rooms, No. 106 Smithfield street, by order of Wm. Phillips, Esq., Administrator of C. W. Ricketson, deceased:

6,750 shares Meramec Silver Lead Co., of Missouri.

30,000 shares Gold Mountain Mining Oombination Co., of Colorado.

4,334 shares Phelps & Gilmore Gold Mining Co., of Colorado.

5,800 shares Franklin Mining Co., of Missouri.

An undivided one-half interest in Smith's Patent Thresher.

Interest or Patent Right for the States of Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan, in Smith's Patent Reaper.

An undivided one-half interest in Smith's Patent Breech Loading Cannon.

One-half of a certain old Canuon in Beaver county.

Parts of eight or nine Reaping Machines, made after patent of Smith's Reaper, and now at Wilson's, on Ferry street.

Also, the interest of C. W. Ricketson, being an undivided one-half of ship Edward. This vessel was lost on the coast of Brazil in 1859, under circumstances which gave the owners a claim for indemnity against the Government of that country, but which has been thus far urged in vain.

BY A. LEGGATE.

FARM, GARDEN PLOTS AND COUNTRY SITES, AT AUCTION.—There will be sold on the premises, on WEDNESDAY, April 15th, 1868, at 10 o'clock, the valuable homestead farm of Mr. Wm. Lynch, adjoining Hays ville Station, on the P., Ft. W. & C. Ry., eleven miles below the city. The entire farm contains ninety-three acres, is in good state of cultivation, is beautifully situated, fronting the Ohio river, the Beaver road, and the Township road. There are Orchards Vines, Small Fruits, Shrubbery, and a never failing Spring of pure Water. On the place is an excellent Brick Dwelling House, containing six rooms, attic and cellar complete, all in first rate condition; also good stables, barns, out-houses, tenant house, &c., &c. The whole premises are in capital orker, and are worthy the special attention of all in quest of a beautiful and convenient home, combining the advantages of the country with easy access to the city. Nine trains daily to and from the city. Special attention is invited to this highly attractive sale, which takes place on account of the advanced age of the owner. Title indisputable. City purchasers will take the 8:45 train from Allegheny. Dinner will be served on the premises. Will be sold in one lot, or divided as may be desired by purchasers. There are a number of very fine sites for building. Don't fail to attend.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, April 1, 1868.

This, being Good Friday, there were no sessions of either boards in New York. Business looks more lively, although it will not compare with former seasons. The laboring classes and a large number of small trades people have been living of their past savings, they are now poor and will not be able to purchase anything but the absolute necessities of life.

Money is less stringent than last week, but it is still scarce; 10 to 12 per cent. is the ruling rate for prime short paper.

Stocks are dull and but few purchasers in the market. Allegheny Valley Railroad bonds, which sold a few weeks ago at 81¾ to 182, are offered now at 75, and large amounts could not be placed here at all. The company failed to provide for the last coupons on the bonds, but it is understood have now made arrangements for payment.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

PITTSBURGH METAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, April 10, 1868.

The market for raw irons has been quite inactive throughout the week. Several causes conspired to bring about this result, not the least of which was the stringency in the money market, which induced increasing caution on the part of consumers, although our report is but partial (for reasons similar to those of last week). The aggregate sales was less, perhaps, than any week for a month past; stocks, however, do not seem to accumulate, and good makes of Standard Forge Irons are firmly held, but inferior grades are less firm. We quote as follows:

IRON AND NAILS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, April 10, 1868.

We can report a steady demand for merchant bar Iron, and the market is firm at the recent advance. Orders are coming in quite freely, especially from the northwest, and with the resumption of navigationon the Upper Mississippi, Illinois, Missouri, and other rivers the demand is unusually brisk, and all of our manufacturers have as many orders as they can attend to; some of them are sold from fifteen to thirty days ahead. For Nails there is also a brisk demand, and as stocks are very much reduced, the market is firm at card rates. Pittsburgh is reclaiming a good deal of territory which was lost last year in consequence of that unfortunate lock-out, and we think that before the season is over, she will again be entitled, not in name but in fact, to be called the Birmingham of America.

WHITE LEAD AND ZINC PAINTS.

We note an advance of half a cent per pound on the various grades of White Lead in oil. Messrs. Harris & Ewing, wholesale druggists, corner of Liberty and Wayne streets, quote the following brands:

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, April 10, 1868.

The general markets are moderately active, there being a steady local demand for all of the leading commodities, and while there is a fair volume of business, in the aggregate, the transactions are mainly of a local and unimportant character.

APPLES—Green Apples are steady, with a regular local demand, and the market may be quoted firm at $4 to $6 per bbl.

POTATOES—In good demand firm but unchanged. Sales at $3,50 to $3,75 for Peach Blows; $4 to $4,50 for Buckeyes, and $8 for Jersey Sweets.

BUTTER—Is steady, with a demand fully equal to the supply, and prices are firm and well maintained. We continue to quote prime to choice Roll at 45 to 50c.

EGGS—Are a shade firmer, and sell readily at 22 to 23c.

GRAIN—There is no Wheat in market; Winter is quoted nominal at $2,63 to $2,55 for Red, and $2,63 to $2,65 for White. No Barley in this market. Oats firm but unchanged; 75 to 76c, on track, and 80c, in store; sale of 600 bush, to arrive, at 75c. Ear Corn is selling on wharf at $1. Rye is unchanged at $1,75 to $1,80.

SEEDS—Cloverseed is quiet and unchanged at $7,50 to $8. Timothy is steady at $2,75. Flaxseed is in active demand at $2,50.

HAY—Weighmaster McNulty, at the Allegheny Diamond Scales, reports sales of 51 loads of Hay at $17 to $25, and 1 load of Straw at $17.

PROVISIONS—Bacon continues firm and tending upwards. Sales at 13¼ to 13¾c for Shoulders; 15¾c for Ribbed, and 17¼c for Clear Sides; 18¼ to 18½c for Plain Sugar Cured Hams, and 19¼c for Canvassed do. Lard, also, is higher, being quoted at 17½c, in tierces, and 18c, in kegs. Mess Pork has advanced to $27,25@27,50.

DRIED FRUIT—Is steady, with regular sales at 11 to 11½c for Peaches, and 7 to 8c for Apples.

SALT—Is quiet and unchanged; Allegheny river brands are still quoted at $1,75 to $1,80 for round lots, and $2 for small lots in store.

CHEESE—Is quoted steady at 17c for Factory, and $18 for Goshen.

BEANS—$4,50 to $5 per bush.

HOMINY—$6,25 to $6,50 per bbl.

ONIONS—$4,50 per bush.

FLOUR—Is steady and the demand is rather better, but prices are unchanged: $10,50 to $10,75 for good Spring Wheat; $11 to $11,25 for choice do; $11,75 to $12,50 for Winter Wheat, and $15 to $16 for St. Louis fancy brands. Rye Flour, $9 to $9,50.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, April 10, 1868.

CRUDE—The report of a big well on Cherry Run produced quite a sensation in oil circles, but the rumor had hardly got well circulated before a contradiction followed it, thus to a considerable extent destroying its influence on the market. The report, and it came by telegraph, stated that it was flowing from five hundred to three thousand barrels per day—might as well have said from five hundred to five thousand. Upon the strength of this rumor, it is said, there was a sale to be delivered on first water at 8½c and two dollars per barrel advanced by buyer; we also heard of an offer to sell for same delivery at same price and condition; also, an offer to sell for same delivery at 8½, and no advance money asked. Last evening there was a sale of first water oil at 8⅝c and $1,50 per barrel advanced. The weather continues soft, and there is every appearance of another bulk rise.

REFINED—There are no new features in the market for bonded oil worthy of special notice. We can report a steady demand for the spring and summer months at quotations, but there are no sellers, and as a consequence, we have but very few sales to report. To-day there was not a single transaction—last evening there was a sale of one thousand barrels for the last half of October, at 29c. April is still quoted at 25c; June 26c and July 27c; offers to buy the last five months at 28½c. The fact that there are but very few sellers here seems to have strengthed the market somewhat, the unfavorable character of the advices from Antwerp to the contrary notwithstanding.

Things a Woman Can't Do.

A lady writer who is slightly disposed to turn traitor to her sex, states that there are three things a woman can't do—the most important admission that has been extorted from her sex since Madame Eve ate the apple. Hear the following open confession:"

First, she can't sharpen a lead pencil. Give her one and see. Mark how jaggedly she hacks away every particle of wood around the lead, leaving an unsupported spike of the latter, which breaks immediately when used. You can almost forgive the male creature his compassionate contempt as chucking her under the chin, he twitches it from her awkward little paw, and rounds and tapers it in the most ravishing manner, for durable use. I wish to hear no more on that point, because when I once make up my mind, "all the King's men" can't change it.

Well, then, secondly—A woman can't do up a bundle. She takes a whole newspaper to do up a paper of pins, and a coil of rope to tie it, and it will come undone at that. When I go shopping, I look on with the fascinated gaze of a bird in the neighborhood of a magnetic serpent, to watch clerks do up bundles. How the paper falls just into the right crease, how deftly they turn it over, and tuck it under, and tie it up, and then throw it down upon the counter as if they had done the most common thing in the world, instead of a deed which might, and in faith does task the ingenuity of "angels?" It is perfectly astonishing.

Thirdly—I may allude to the fact that a woman can't carry an umbrella. or rather to the very peculiar manner in which they perform that duty; but I won't. When they unfurl the parachute alluded to, they put it down over their noses, take the middle of the sidewalk, raking off men's hats and women's bonnets as they go, and walking right into the breakfast of some wight, with that disregard of the consequent disgust, which to be understood must be felt, as the offender cocks up one corner of the parachute and looks defiantly at the victim who has effrontery to come into the world and hazard the whalebone and handle of her "umbrill!"

THE melancholy death of Thomas Hanlon—an indirect result of injuries received in the practice of the acrobatic art—lends peculiar significance to the following paragraph, which we find in a recent London paper:

"The prevailing taste for gymnastics of all kinds is fast degenerating into a sort of luxurious cruelty, and audiences are only ready to applaud what will stir them into an interest by the amount of danger to which the performer is subjected. On the 13th of January an athlete calling himself Gulnare tumbled off a rope from a height of 25 feet, and smashed his head against the benches near the orchestra. Another accident recently occurred to the "Brother Bolena," at the Music Hall, Dundee, in which the men received dangerous hurts. Attention is called to the vicious practice of permitting these exhibitions, without the use of proper safeguards, such as a sufficient netting to catch the showmen or show-women in the event of their coming to grief."

—One hundred new cottages have been built at Long Branch since last season, and most of the best rooms at the hotels are already engaged, forshadowing a brilliant season at this most fashionable of American seaside watering places.

POLITICAL.

☞UNION REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

The UNION REPUBLICAN VOTERS of Allegheny County are requested to meet at the usual places for holding elections in the several Wards, Boroughs and Townships, on Saturday, May 30th, 1868,

And elect two (2) delegates from each election district, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress. Also, two (2) delegates from each election district for the purpose of nominating candidates for Senate, Assembly, District Attorney and Assistant Attorney, Controller and Commissioners.

The Congressional Convention for the 22d District will meet at the CITY COUNCIL CHAMBERS Pittsburgh, on TUESDAY, June 2d, at 10 o'clock A. M., to nominate a Congressman. The Congressional Convention for the 21st District will meet at the CITY HALL, Allegheny City, the same day and hour, to appoint Conferees for the District. The County Convention will meet at the COURT HOUSE, in this city, the same day and hour.

The County Executive Committee recommend that the delegate elections be held, so far as practicable, by the Republican members of the Election Boards in the several districts, and also the manner of voting for candidates in the several Conventions be viva voce.

The Primary Elections in the Townships (excepting the Townships of Oakland, Pitt, Peebles, Liberty, Collins and Wilkins, which will be between the hours of 3 and 7 o'clock,) will be held between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock P. M., and in the Boroughs and Cities between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock P. M. In the Cities and Boroughs the elections shall be by ballot, and in the Townships by marking.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Church Dedication at Youngstown.

The new and beautiful church edifice which has just been completed by the United Presbyterians of Youngstown, Ohio, was formally dedicated to the worship of Almighty God, on Sabbath, the 5th instant. The services were conducted in the morning by Rev. John B. Clark, D.D., of Allegheny, who delivered an appropriate discourse on the "Glory of the Temple at Jerusalem." In the afternoon, Rev. John Douglas, D. D., of this city, preached a sermon on the "Universal Glory of Christ's Church. Rev. C. A. Dickey, of Allegheny, occupied the pulpit in the evening, and delivered a sermon on "The Work of the Lord." Ministers of different denominations in the city of Youngstown took part in the devotional exercises. Some of them showed their kindness and good will by dispensing with service in their own churches in order that they and their people might attend the dedication services, which were solemn and impressive throughout.

A collection was taken up at the close of each service for the purpose of defraying a small debt incurred in the erection of the building Both the members of the congregation and the citizens generally contributed liberally on the occasion, and it is expected that as much was realized as will cancel the whole debt.

Rev. Mr. Ormand, pastor of the Church, and his people deserve much credit for the zeal and perseverance which they have displayed in the erection of such a beautiful place of worship, as the congregation is merely in its infancy.

On Saturday evening Dr. John B. Clark delivered a lecture on "Work and Wages," in Aims' Hall. Dr. John Douglas delivered a lecture in the same place on Monday evening, subject: "The Divine Element in the History of our Country." The proceeds of both lectures were appropriated to the benefit of the congregation.

An Amicable Arrangement.

Thursday evening Fanny Showers, a young Miss between thirteen and fourteen years of age, made information before Mayor Drum charging Clement Snyder with seduction under promise of marriage. The parties reside in Allegheny, and it appears that some months since Snyder formed an acquaintance with Fanny, which soon ripened into an intimacy, and, as the girl alleges, under a promise of marriage he seduced her. She urged him to fulfill his promise and make her his wife, but he postponed the matter by promises until a short time ago he finally refused to marry her, in consequence of which she made the information. He was arrested on Thursday night and taken to the lock-up. At the time of his arrest he denied the charge flatly, and said he would allow the Court to settle the matter. A night's lodgings on the "soft side" of a plank in the watch house had a tendency, however, to change his determination of the evening previous, and caused him to see matters in a different light. Through the interposition of friends of the parties the affair was amicably arranged, the girl sent for and a wedding ensued, Mayor Drum officiating. After the ceremony, the "twain made one" departed from the office, apparently well pleased with the result.

A Reliable Insurance Company.

In selecting Insurance companies worthy of confidence and conducted in such a manner as to afford ample guarantee to the public that they are eminently safe and reliable, we trust our readers will not fail to award the proper attention to the Ben Franklin Insurance Company, of Allegheny City. This institution, which is in a most healthy and flourishing condition, is managed by directors who are well and favorably known as leading, trust worthy and reliable business men of our own community, and every precaution is taken to render it safe to those who bestow upon it their patronage. The company promptly meets all its obligations to the assured, and will never be found taking advantage of legal technicalities to evade the payment of losses it may sustain. Persons desiring to obtain fire risks, are cordially commended to the Ben Franklin Company, whose office is in the Franklin Savings Bank building No. 43 Ohio street, and where the obliging and gentlemanly Secretary, Geo. D. Riddle, Esq., will be found to give any needed information regarding its rates and affairs.

Sudden Death—Coroner's Inquest.

Mr. Launcelot Appleby, proprietor of the Cottage saloon, adjoining the Pittsburgh Theatre on Fifth street, died suddenly yesterday morning, of epileptical convulsions. He had been ill some days previous to his death, but had recovered and was attending to business. Thursday he was over in Allegheny, and he was also out that evening. About four o'block next morning, his wife was awakened by the noise of a heavy body falling upon the the floor, and discovered that her husband had fallen out of bed. He was lying upon the floor, and his symtoms indicated that he had been attacked by a fit of some kind. Medical aid was immediately called in, but death ensued about eight o'clock. Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body yesterday evening, when the jury found "that the decaased came to his death from epileptical convulsions."

The deceased was forty-five years of age, and came to this country from England over twenty years ago.

City Mortality.

A Wanderer.

Officer Sarber arrested an insane man yesterday on Penn street, who, it appears, had been wandering about in the locality of St. Clair street the greater part of the day, bare headed, and carrying a large carpet bag filled with a quantity of cast off clothing and other useless articles. He states that he came from New York and imagines himself the Creator. No one here knows anything about him, further than what can be gathered from his disconnected sentences, and that is very little. He has an unlimited number of names, and gives a new one to almost every one who addresses him, but adheres to that of Gast Josef more than any other. He was confined in the lock-up where he still remains. He will probably be sent to the Hospital.

Found and Returned to the Owner.—Officer Shaffer, of the Allegheny police force, found a pocket book containing $29, in the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway passenger depot, Allegheny, yesterday, for which he also found an owner in a short time afterwards. The pocket book was the property of a countryman, who had dropped it while purchasing a ticket. He did not miss it until the fact of its having been found was made public, when he described its contents to the officer who handed it over to him.

THE COURTS.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

On motion of Geo. Shiras, Jr., W. W. Lathrop, Esq., of Luzerne county, was qualified and duly admitted to practice in this Court.

In bankruptcy branch, yesterday final discharges were granted and certificates awarded to Isaac L. Post, of Luzerne county, and Charles A. Boucher, of Pittsburgh.

Petitions for final discharge were filed by Wm. P. Graham, Owen Byrne, Wm. B. Heggarty and Wm. P. Fuller, of Pittsburgh.

Petitions for adjudication were filed by Isaac Wyke, of Cambria county, and Peter Lockard, of Altoona, Blair county.

In chambers, petitions for final discharge were filed by Seth O. Daggett, of Tioga, Tioga county, and Daniel Bushnell, of Pittsburgh.

A petition for adjudication in bankruptcy was filed by Daniel Flick, of Somerset.

District Court—Judge Hampton.

In the case of August Hartje vs. D. Reinhart and J. A. Harton, reported yesterday, the jury found for the defendants.

Frederick Braun vs. Dallas C. Irish et al. This was an action to recover damages sustained to a lot of drugs stored in plaintiff's cellar, on St. Clair street. Defendants are owners of a building adjoining that formerly occupied by plaintiff, in the cellar of which is a pipe connecting with the main sewer, leading by way of St. Clair street to the river. Plaintiff alleged that the stop cock to the pipe had been left open through carelessness on the part of the defendants, and that the water from the sewer overflowed his cellar and damaged the drugs stored therein. After the testimony of the plaintiff had been concluded, the Court, being of the opinion that a case had not been made out, ordered judgment of non-suit to be entered.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

In the case of Jacob and Louis Seiferth, who were indicted for committing an assault and battery upon their father, Jacob Seiferth, Jr., the jury found a verdict of not guilty, and directed the prosecutor to pay the costs. The father was convicted on an indictment charging him with having committed an assault upon his sons, and the Court sentenced defendant to pay a fine of one dollar and the costs of prosecution.

The grand jury ignored the bill against Albert Peters, who was charged with bigamy on oath of Nancy Jane Peters, his wife. The information was made before Justice James M. Love. The prosecutrix alleged that she was married to defendant on the 15th of January, 1865, but that since that time he contracted a marriage with Caroline Sterling. The grand jury, in ignoring the bill, directed the county to pay the costs. Peters was discharged by proclamation.

John McClaren was indicted for nuisance, the charge being preferred by John D. Scully, President of the Monongahela Turnpike Company. It was alleged that the defendant objected to paying toll for his teams passing through the toll-gate, and that the toll keeper refused to allow him to go through. Defendant directed his drivers to turn their teams and wagons into the middle of the road, where they were allowed to remain for some time, and obstructed other travel. The defense claimed that the gate was closed, and that the toll keeper was responsible for any obstruction that occurred. It was in evidence, however, that at the time the gate was closed the defendant's team was at the side of the road, and that he instructed the drivers to occupy the centre. The jury found a verdict of guilty.

The same defendant was arraigned on an indictment for keeping and maintaining a nuisance, the charge also being preferred by Mr. Scully, as President of the Turnpike Company. The indictment charged him with maintaining a coal platform, opposite Moorhead's mill, which obstructed the road at that point. Jury out.

Amusements.

Opera House.—Last evening Mrs. Bates, the most popular and pleasing actress of Mr. Canning's Company, took a benefit. "Who Killed Cock Robin," the "Weston's Victim" and the "Idiot Witness" were presented in a very creditable manner. We regret, however, that the audience, although respectable, was not as large as it should have been. An interesting matinee will be given this afternoon, and this evening Mr. Evelyn Evans will appear for the first time in this city. Forrest Monday night. The seats are being taken very rapidly.

Pittsburgh Theatre.—The old Theatre, under the excellent management of Fred. Aimes, is rapidly growing into favor. The company is one of the best ever concentrated in any place of amusement in this city. Miss Southerland is one of the sweetest and most brilliant vocalists, delighting the audience with Scottish ballads. Mr. Leveni, the acrobat, is the most fearless and daring performer we ever witnessed, and Nellie Fishure is a charming danseuse. Matinee this afternoon.

Franklin Hall.—The most attractive place in the city at present is Burnell's Museum, at Franklin Hall. A splendid collection of the finest works of art in connection with a countless number of natural living curiosities are comprised in the exhibition. It is open every day from eight o'clock A. M. to 10 P. M. Tickets, twenty-five cents, to be had at the door.

Masonic Hall.—The Arlington Minstrels, at Masonic Hall, had a full house last night. The entertainment was fully up to the expectation of the audience, who were highly delighted. It is decidedly the best minstrel troupe traveling, and fully sustains the high reputation it enjoys. To-night will be their last appearance here for the present.

Assaulted an Officer.

Officer Geo. V. Coden, of the Mayor's police, made information before the Mayor yesterday charging Barney McKenna with assault and battery. McKenna, it appears, was acting in a disorderly manner at a ball in Ashland Hall, on Thursday night, and, when that officer attempted to arrest him, resisted and struck him with his fist. He was held to bail for his appearance at court.

Larceny of a Carpet Bag.—Mr. D. B. Hodges made oath yesterday, before Alderman Strain, charging James Allen with the larceny of a carpet bag, containing a silk dress, velvet sacque, handkerchiefs, and other articles. The carpet bag, it appears, was taken from the Union Depot. The accused was arrested and committed to jail in default of bail to appear at the Alderman's office at 2 P. M. to-day, for a hearing.

Sheepish.—William Harrison was arrested yesterday evening by officer Dressler, in the Diamond market, charged with stealing a leg of mutton from his brother, John Harrison, a butcher who has a stand in the market. He was taken to the lock-up, where he remains awaiting a hearing. A sheep thief is undoubtedly a mean man, and a man who would steal mutton from his brother is dreadfully sheepish.

Fred Douglass, the celebrated colored orator, who is without a peer in his race, will deliver a lecture at Lafayette Hall, on Thursday evening next, on "Republican Government vs. The One Man Power." A rare intellectual treat is in store for those who will attend, as there are few better talkers or deeper thinkers than Mr. Douglass in our country.

Church Closed To-Morrow.—Owing to the unfinished condition of the cleaning and refitting of the First Reformed Presbyterian Church (Dr. J. Douglas',) it will not be open for divine worship to-morrow. Services as usual on to-morrow week.

The Coal Miners' Riot—The Bill Charging Hart With the Murder of Belger, one of the Rioters, Ignored by the Grand Jury.

Tuesday morning, March 31, we published an account of the coal miners' riot at O'Neill's coal works, on the Monongahela river, in which Francis Belger, one of the rioters, was shot by William Hart, night watchman at Mr. O'Neill's works. The following day we also published the testimony adduced at the Coroner's inquest held by Coroner Clawson, in which we stated that William Hart had been arrested and held to answer the charge of murder. He was subsequently brought before the Court and Hart released on bail. Yesterday the case was brought before the Grand Jury and the bill ignored, on the ground, we presume, that the act was justifiable. Mr. Hart has an excellent reputation where he is known, and from the facts in the case was evidently instigated by no other motive than that of saving the life of his employer in committing the act which resulted in the death of Belger, as his conduct was quite the reverse of that of a malicious and depraved man. His conduct during the affair was highly commendable, and doubtless the means of suppressing a terrible and bloody riot, as Belger, who appeared to be the leader of the riot, was a desperate man.

Hand Sewing

Is not thought of in these progressive days; it is a toil too tedious for any person. Weed Sewing Machine is admitted by all competent judges to be the best Machine ever offered to the public. The number sold is still another strong evidence. One hundred machines sold in one month at Pittsburgh. Terms to suit all. Call and see it. R. H. Long, agent, 112 Grant street.

The Spring Stock of general groceries and produce, just opened by Messrs. McBride & George, the well known and enterprising firm engaged largely in that business at No. 164 Federal street, Allegheny city, is specially inviting to wholesale and retail purchasers. It is large, fresh and affords admirable selection. The firm sustain a high reputation for the unvarying quality of their teas, coffees, sugars, spices and groceries generally, and are in every way worthy the large share of patronage which is bestowed upon them. A single purchasing visit will convince our lady friends as well as dealers who buy to sell again, that they can deal no where else more advantageously.

Committed for Trial.—Jane Hanlin was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued by Alderman Robinson on oath of Catharine Harvey, charging her with larceny. The parties reside in the Fourth Ward, Allegheny, and it appears have been engaged in a quarrel for some time, which has resulted in the prosecution for larceny and also an information by the same prosecutrix charging Mrs. Hanlin with having committed a breach of the peace. The accused was arrested and held to bail for her appearance at Court, in default of which she was committed to jail.

Col. J. D. Egan, the enterprising and popular news dealer and book vender, Sixth street, near Smithfield, has recently made a large addition to his stock which enables him to offer his patrons rare selections at the lowest prices. The Col. has in store a large number of rare second-hand books, to which the attention of scholars is directed. For any and everything in the way of books, stationery, periodicals and magazines favor this old and popular house with a call.

A correspondent of an exchange thinks the railway station at Latrobe should be removed from the present place. Certainly no fault can be found with Mr. Beckwith, the gentlemanly proprietor of the hotel where the present station is located, as he is one of the most clever, obliging and accommodating hosts we have ever met, and he treats all waiting travelers kindly and with proper consideration.

Special Religious Services—At the Academy of Music, on to-morrow (Sabbath) afternoon at 3¼ o'clock, under the auspices of the Sabbath School Teachers' Union. All persons are invited who are not in attendance at services elsewhere at tha thour. Seats free. Earnest christian workers, ministers and laymen visiting our city are cordially invited to attend and take part in the exercises.

Burnett's Cocoaine has received universal endorsement. No other preparation possesses such remarkable properties for embellishing and strengthening the hair, and rendering it dark and glossy. It cures baldness and eradicates dandruff. It has stood the test of time and competition.
TTS.

On the Force Again.—We learn that Mr. Joseph Cupples has been re-appointed on the police force by Mayor Blackmore. Mr. Cupples was on the day force under Mayor McCarthy's administration, and was an efficient officer. He will certainly prove a valuable acquisition to the present excellent force. He will go on duty to-day,

In an Item published on Monday last we unintentionally did injustice to Messrs. H. McSwiggen, John Jones, M. Roenstein, and Jacob Garlough, who we said were brought before Acting Mayor Butler on a surety of the peace information. Instead of being the accused they were the accusers, and were faultless in the matter.

Taken to Dixmont.—James Pitcairn, who was arrested and committed to jail some time since for attempting to take the life of a fellow boarder on Hand street, an account of which was published in the Gazette, was yesterday taken to Dixmont Hospital, by order of Court, having been adjudged insane.

The most stylish jewelry establishment west of the Allegheny mountains is that of Reineman, Meyran & Siedle, No. 42 Fifth street. Liberal prices and fair dealing have combined to enable the firm to erect one of the grandest buildings in the city, as their patronage is very large.

The best selection of housekeeping dry goods will be found at most reasonable prices at Bates & Bell's, No. 21 Fifth street. A large, fresh stock of all kinds of dry goods has just been opened.

Ebrenfelt is the name of an honest young man of Altoona, who found some three hundred dollars belonging to a German emigrant and never rested till he found the owner in Pittsburgh.

The Mansion House Homicide. — The grand jury have ignored the bill against Lawrence Purcell, charged with causing the death of James Monahan, at the Mansion House, last fall.

Call at Reineman, Meyran & Siedle's magnificent new store, No. 42 Fifth street, and look through the splendid stock of watches, clocks and general jewelry just opened.

A New Paper, the Vindicator, is to be started by James F. Campbell, Esq., in Altoona, Pa. He is a gentleman of culture, and education, and will make a tip-top paper.

Go to Bates & Bell's, No. 21 Fifth street, and see the splendid stock of foreign and domestic goods just opened for the spring trade at marvelously low prices.

Spring Shawls in endless variety at Bates & Bell's, No. 21 Fifth street, at lowest prices.

A Reply from Dr. Wolcott.

To D. C. Miller, M. D.—Dear Sir: Your outspoken letter of the 25th, requesting an agency for removing pain free of cost, for those calling at your drug store at 1,325 Third avenue, by the application of Pain Paint, has been received, and the agency granted. Your place will be duly noticed in my advertisement. Pain Paint has attracted the attention of physicians to a greater extent than any remedy ever offered to the public. I have had many applications of the same nature from them and leading retail druggists. Some physicians, as you say, are jealous, in consequence of the introduction of Pain Paint, but their opposition is useless. I have recommendations from the most prominent medical men certifyiug that Pain Paint is more sure and permanent in its effects, quickest in operation, and safer in its application, under the most delicate circumstances, than any remedial agent they have ever known. Therefore, all half-made doctors and conservative quacks, who live by the unnatural practice of cramming medicine down the stomach of their victims, are welcome to rant and rave, because their customers desert them, and use Pain Paint instead of their worn out nostrums. Very truly,

R. L. Wolcott, 170 Chatham square New York.

An Editors' Experience of Tooth-Drawing.

Of all the ills that flesh is heir to we've always held that tooth-ache is the cussedest. Night before last our evil star being in the ascendant, we unfortunately drank a glass or two too much, eat rather much fried oysters and crackers and consequently got home late and forgot to say our prayers. Now its a singular thing that we never neglect our prayers but what we're punished for it. This case was no exception; the punishment came direct, swift and terrible, we awoke in the morning with a fearful tooth-ache. We were awful pious then, said our prayers devoutly, but it was no use, repentance came too late. We bore it patiently awhile, then lost patience and swore. But even that didn't help us. The case was desperate; something must be done. With our burnt and blistering cheek pressed upon a hot smoothing-iron, we tried to reflect coolly. But one cause presented itself. The tooth must be drawn, provided we could get our wife's permission. Kind good woman that she is, she gave it, though reluctantly, thinking how awful 'twould be if the plumpness of our cheek should disappear with our tooth, and our visage should be lean and sunken like Mrs. H——'s husband's. Of course there was but one place to go. Dr. Spencer, that best of good feilows, is the only man breathing who should handle lance and forceps in the neighborhood, of our masticators; and we'd take Laughing Gas too. The worthy Doctor, may his tribe increase, drew forth a bag like that from which jarring winds of old burst forth and drove the ancient Ulysses a wandering out on the trackless seas. We put the bag to our mouth, breathed into it, and in less time than you could say Jack Robinson, our usually logical roots were scattered in as many ways as was the fleet of the old Greek. We thought we were astride a fiery comet with a long switching tail, riding a race on the Oakland Course against Dexter, and we were beating him blind. The bet was Trinity Church against the drinks for the party that Dr. Spencer could beat the whole set of impeachment attorneys at Washington drawing out: that he could even draw Grant out if he'd take some Laughing Gas: and we were sure to win. Not that we wanted the drink. Oh, no! But we'd just like to win. Before reaching the stand the scene changed, and we found ourselves in Washington in the midst of several prominent members of Congress, with a glass of the best Bourbon in our hand. "Here's to you," says we, winking at the nearest of them, and raising the glass to our lips, when suddenly we found ourselves lying in a comfortable arm chair in Dr. Spencer's elegant establishment, 254 Penn street, our toothache gone, and we feeling gloriously. We've resolved, and with our excellent wife's approval, that henceforth when we want enjoyment, instead of going on a spree, we'll go to Spencer's, take laughing gas, and have a tooth extracted.

Explanation.

Why is it that teeth are given cheaper and better at Drs. Sill & Gillespie's, 246 Penn street, than at any other place in Pittsburgh, is explained in the following manner:

First: They refused to bear the imposition of the Goodyear tax, which amounted to six hundred dollars per year on their establishment. All other dentists of this city have placed their necks in the Goodyear yoke and are compelled to pay this enormous tax and are equally bound to charge no less than twenty dollars a set or forty dollars for upper and lower set, and any violation of that written compact forfeits their license and a thousand dollars. The firm of Drs. Sill & Gillespie are at liberty to charge as they please. They are producing a better plate under a new process, than the old, and got their license of the patentees, Drs. Newbrough and Fagan, of New York city. The latter kind of Vulcanite is superior in every particular. It contains no sulphur, and is more healthy in the mouth than the Goodyear Vulcanite. Drs. Sill & Gillespie pay for their privileges in this new company fifty dollars for seventeen years. If the professsion had kept a little better informed they could have saved themselves a great expense, and all the freedom of freemen. But in the place of that they are paying the penalty of the dupe, and as soon as their vision is clear they are mean enough to take shelter like a whipped dog and cry "bogus, bogus," thus hoping to alarm the people and dissuade its use till they can be relieved from the present bondage, and then it will be seen how quick they will be shoving the Iodized Rubber out as the greatest discovery in the known world. Remember, friends and people wanting teeth, all except Drs. Sill & Gillespie are constrained to charge twenty dollars for an upper set, as they have tied their hands to the Goodyear Company to make no vulcanite for less, or they do it at the cost of having their license revoked at a loss of one year's tax, which is paid in advance. We advise our readers to patronize the persons who work to the interest of the public, and that place will be found at 246 Penn street, Drs. Sill & Gillespie.

A Deaf Man Recovers his Hearing in Five Minutes' Time Under the Skillful Treatment of Dr. Aborn.

After suffering from deafness for upwards of five years without any relief, it gives me great pleasure to give publicity to the following facts: I applied to Dr. Aborn, 134 Smithfield street, and in five minutes time he restored my hearing. The sudden restoration of my hearing causes me to feel as though I had been transported to another world. Persons afflicted as I have been should lose no time in calling on the Doctor. He is a gentleman of few words, but his successful treatment speaks louder than human tongue. Frederick Shaner,
Harrison City, Westm'd Co., Pa.

Note.—Dr. Aborn devotes special attention to the treatment of all diseases incident to the Eye, Ear, Head, Throat and organs of the Chest. Will be professionally at his rooms, No. 134 Smithfield street, from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M.

"The Sweetest Thing in Life" is good health and good spirits, and if you have them not, the next best thing is what will restore bloom to the faded cheek and happiness to the drooping heart. The great and sure remedy is Plantation Bitters, which our physicians recommend to both male and femaie patients, as a safe, reliable, agreeable and cordial stimulant. They contain nothing to disagree with the most delicate constitution, and have won golden opinions from all who have tried them: and probably no article was ever tried by so many persons. They elevate the depressed and give strength to the weak.
